BIG CODFISH.

Sch. Olga Had Some Record Breakers in Her Fare.

Some of the vessels which arrived recently from the fishing grounds off Cape North with fares of fresh fish had some really monster fish in their trips, but some of those among the fare of sch. Olga, Capt. Horace Wildes, which took out her trip at Reed & Gamage's wharf, had the "busters" of the whole lot. One draft of these fish which numbered 11 in count when gutted and gilled weighed 600 pounds or an average of 55 pounds dressed for each fish. These are certainly big ones.

DECISION REVERSED.

Appraisers Make Ruling in the Famous Brine Case.

Only the Part Which Adheres to Fish Is Dutiable.

A decision of much interest to importers of fish has been handed down by the board of the United States general appraisers. It is in favor of the importers.

Fish imported in brine are dutiable by weight at the rate of half a cent a pound. About six months ago, the general appraisers ruled that the brine surrounding the fish must be included in the dutiable weight. The board now explains that its former decision must be interpreted to mean that only the brine adhering to fish after they have been drained shall be included in the dutiable weight.

This leaves the condition of matters in this respect just as it was previous to the ruling which caused such a stir among importers.

The decision of the board of United States general appraisers to the effect that the duty on pickled fish shall not include the containing brine was no surprise to members of the trade in this city and Boston.

The case of protest against the levying of duty on brine originated in Boston last February with the firm of Lincoln, Wiley & Co., 270 State street. Mr. George E. Wiley of of this firm became at once the fighting representative of the local fish dealers, and interested dealers all over America.

The feeling against the duty on brine spread wherever pickled fish are put up for consumption in the United States. Many meetings of remonstrance were held in Ireland, notably at Dingle.

"The levying of the duty on brine held up thousands of barrels of pickled fish in Boston," said Mr. Wiley, "but we felt sure that the general appraisers would see the injustice of levying upon the brine, which is thrown away."

Good Stock.

Sch. Olga, Capt. Horace Wildes, stocked $2062 on her recent shack trip, the crew sharing $65.81. Capt. Wildes is keeping up his good record of last winter.

BETTER THAN SCOTCH.

So Says Steam Trawler's Captain of Nova Scotia Herring.

The Scotch steam trawler Thirty Three which is engaged in the herring fishing out of Canso, arrived at that port on Friday afternoon of last week from the fishing grounds. The steamer is an able craft, very staunchly built, and a good sea boat. Soon after the arrival Captain Smith was seen by a reporter, and asked as to the success of the industry.

"I believe the enterprise will be a success," said Captain Smith. "We have shot the nets six times since our arrival on the Nova Scotia coast and met with success on every occasion. The highest catch made at one time so far was 20 barrels. We only set half a fleet of nets up at the present time. There are 60 nets in a fleet, but we only set 30, and got fish in them."

"The fish we have taken in Nova Scotia waters are of excellent quality. In fact they are of better quality than the Scotch herring. The curing of the fish is an important matter, but we have no doubt that it will also be successful, as the fish that have been cured are all right. They are superior to the Scotch herring and Mr. Cowie, the expert, is perfectly satisfied with the experiment so far."

Mackerel Notes.

At New Bedford yesterday were the following netters:

Sch. L. Warren, 30 barrels fresh mackerel.

Two barrels of fresh mackerel were landed at Rockport yesterday.

The traps on the Maine coast took a few mackerel yesterday.

The seiners still report some mackerel to the southward, but that the schools are very wild and almost impossible to stop.

The spring mackerel fishery [at the Magdalenes is over and has been a total failure, the catch being about 100 barrels. Only about 30 barrels were taken the last week.

Sch. Florida, Capt. Edward Proctor, has the honor of landing the largest mackerel ever seen at Newport. It measured 26 1-2 inches in length and weighed 61.2 pounds. This is one of the largest, if not the largest mackerel of which there is any record.

Five hundred barrels of fresh mackerel were received at Boston this morning, 250 having been shipped from Newport and the remainder from New Bedford.

DOWN WITH DOGFISH!

Petition for Bounty Will Be Presented in the Senate.

Senator Dryden of New Jersey Will Offer the Bill.

Upon the reassembling of Congress next December, Senator Dryden of New Jersey will present to the Senate a petition, similar to the one presented to the House last winter by Congressman Tirrell of this state, asking that the government pay a bounty of two cents for each dogfish killed along the Atlantic coast between Cape Hatteras and Eastport, Me.

These petitions are the result of combined work by the fishing industry along the coast and set forth reasons why Congress should pass the Tirrell bill to prevent the further devouring of food fish and lobsters by the millions of dogfish.

The proposition has already received the indorsement of several of the senators and representatives. Next winter a hearing on the petitions will be given before the fisheries committees at Washington, and it is probable that the fish industry will be largely represented.

AT THE MAGDALENES.

No Mackerel Reported There at the Present Time.

Sch. F. W. Homans at Souris Has 80 Barrels Salt Mackerel.
